

A Mothers Wish

MATT CALDWELL WAS FINALLY COMING HOME After years of trotting around the world, running from his faith, detaching from love, stunning events had flung the handsome bachelor back to quaint Caldwell Cove. But widow Sarah Reed, publisher of the Coves Gazette, couldn't imagine that Matt's sudden return would be anything but trouble for her and her young children. A BLESSING OR A CURSE? Then the unlikely business partners met, and her once-silent partner, Matt, was no longer silent. Sarah had never imagined that love strikes twice, but she was beginning to hope that the heavens were smiling down on her. And that the path to righting old wrongs would turn out to have hidden blessings.
