The perfect gift for any parent or child, this heartfelt book reflects how quickly the time passes when our children are growing up. From the first day of school to when the time comes to let go, Suddenly by author Juliene Allman throws a poignant light on hindsight. A beautiful and tender reminder that children give their parents some of the best days of their lives. It seems that in one moment a parent walks their child to kindergarten, and in the next that son or daughter is graduating from high school and ready to spread their wings. This journey is a bittersweet ride of happiness, pride and a realization that all of it passes too quickly.
