

The Intentional Father

So begins the saga: In the initial visit with my son, I witnessed a child who was bright, smiled, yelled, stomped his feet and screamed. It was not that he could not talk, he would not talk. He had his own language, created in his mind to get his needs satisfied as a result of them not being met prior. I was told that he could only say 7 words, all in Spanish. I went to a corner on this initial visit and sat there with a book and a stuffed bear and waited. Ever so slowly, he approached me, would touch me and run away and giggle. Eventually, he sat in my lap and looked at me for a while, with his social worker, the foster mother and my adoption worker looking on he put his hand on my face and said daddy. This was not one of the words that he knew and it was not in Spanish so it began.

The Intentional Father. Giving a Strong Spiritual Legacy. from Pastor George Sasso, CCCH Marriage & Family Ministry. and Kurt Bruner, The Center for StrongBeing a father who intentionally disciplines his family is tough work. Not only do we need to learn how to run this race, we must simultaneously remove obstaclesIn The Intentional Father, the author chronicles the significant events in his decision to become a single adoptive parent and the adoption process. An essentialBeing a father who intentionally disciplines his family is tough work. Not only do we need to learn how to run this race, we must simultaneously remove obstaclesCommitment requires you to be intentional and follow through. Here are our thoughts on why commitment requires intention.Posts about THE INTENTIONAL FATHER written by Rick & Careise.Being a father who intentionally disciplines his family is tough work. Not only do we need to learn how to run this race, we must simultaneously remove obstaclesDad Blog for guys who want to have an exceptional life.The Intentional. Father. Giving a Strong. Spiritual Legacy. Every believing dad hopes his or her child will embrace the faith and grow deep spiritual roots. A great Dad makes memories, goes on great adventures, always puts his family first, makes sacrifices, is patient, always has time for his kids,Every believing dad hopes his child will embrace the faith and grow deep spiritual roots. But studies tell us that over half of those growing up in Christian homes